Woodland Hills Elementary School fosters the development of creative thinking, rigorous problem solving, respect for individual differences, and high ethical standards. Our arts integration instruction helps children with the development of motor skills, language skills, social skills, decision-making, risk-taking, and inventiveness. We prepare our students to be fully participating, international-minded citizens and leaders with twenty-first century skills.

Woodland Hills Elementary School is a school where the children come first. All stakeholders are devoted to inspire and prepare students to become confident, independent learners who achieve at their highest academic levels, while developing personal values that contribute to their success. These values include nurturing a love of learning, stimulating creativity, cultivating physical, social and emotional health, and developing respect, integrity, empathy, and tolerance for others. Our students are committed to their role as responsible contributing members of society.
